

Building Social Connections

Making and maintaining social connections is important to developing meaningful relationships. Meaningful relationships and positive social experiences are crucial for facilitating social inclusion and contribute to one's quality of life. These are resources in the Northern Virginia area that offer social and recreation opportunities to young adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Many of the programs are offered in-person and virtually.

Therapeutic Recreation

Therapeutic Recreation Services provides opportunities for children and adults with disabilities to develop the skills that enable them to participate in the recreation and leisure programs of their choice. TR Services are currently being offered as a mix of virtual and in-person opportunities, and include rec services and sensory rooms.
